Warren Mayor Jim Fouts Directs Warren City Hall to be Illuminated Blue and Green Tonight For Eating Disorders Awareness

Warren, MI – Mayor Fouts has directed that Warren City Hall will be lit up blue and green tonight, Thursday, Feb. 27, 2020 from dusk until dawn on Friday, Feb. 28, 2020 to bring awareness to eating disorders during National Eating Disorders Awareness week (NEDAwareness).

Warren is currently the first city in the state of Michigan partnering with the National Eating Disorders Association to represent NEDAwareness.

Warren's participation helps bring greater recognition to this important mental health issue - eating disorders have the highest mortality rate of any other mental health issue, so providing support and guidance to individuals and families struggling with this mental health issue is so critically important. Eating disorders are a growing crisis that affect almost everyone.

The lighting event will be promoted via social media with the main hashtag #NEDAwareness
