Warren Mayor's Office Shipped Six Pallets Of Goods To Puerto Rico Flood Victims

Warren, MI – Following the recent tragic flooding in Puerto Rico from Hurricane Maria, Warren Mayor Jim Fouts' office began collecting clothing, food and bottled water for the flood victims.

Fouts' office collected six pallets of goods, and Central Transport located in Warren donated the transportation to Chicago where it was loaded up and taken to Puerto Rico for distribution by La Casa Puertorriquena.

Fouts said even though the flooding occurred months ago, "the victims are still suffering and haven't been forgotten."
